Enter Richard Duke

NOw is the winter of our d
Made glorious ſummer b
And all the cloudes that
In the deepe boſome of
Now are our browes bound wit
Our bruiſed armes hung vp for
Our ſterne alarums changd to m
Our dreadfull marches to deligh
Grim-viſag'd warre, hath ſmoo
And now in ſtead of mounting
To fright the ſoules of fearefull
He capers Nimble in a Ladies
To the laſcinious pleaſing of a
But I that am not ſhapte for ſpo
Not made to court an amorous
I that am rudely ſtampt & wan
To ſtrut before a wanton ambl
I that am curtaild of this faire pr
Cheated of feature by diſſemb
Deformd, vnfiniſht, ſent before
Into this breathing world ſcare
And that ſo lamely and vnfaſhi
That dogs barke at me as I halt
Why I in this weake piping tim
Haue no delight to paſſe away
Vnleſſe to ſpie my ſhadow in t
And deſcant on mine owne de
And therefore ſince I cannot p
To entertaine theſe faire well ſp
